OBSERVATIONS IN THE SOUTH—A DISCOURSE BY THE REV. SYLVESTER MALONE OF SS. PETER AND PAUL'S CHURCH, WILLIMSBURGB.

The Rev. Sylvester Malone, paster of SS.
Peter and Paul's Catholic Church, Williamsburgh, preached to his congregation yesterday for the first time ince his return from the South, where he has been so journing for some time to improve his health. We give the following copious extracts from Father Malone's sermon, presenting those portions in which he most ably mon, presenting those portions in which he most ably portrays the bolitical aspects of the country, and urges the great remedy for all our national wounds. The text was taken from the Epistle of St. Peter, 4th chapter, beginning with the 7th, and closing with the 10th verse, After a few remarks on the import of the text and the demands of Christian charity upon all, Father Malone expressed his gratification at being permitted again to associate with his congregation after an abscuce of several months. It was expected that he would say something of what he saw and heard in the South. After some allusion to the part he took in the late struggle for the preservation of the Union, he said: "Now, my friends, a few years have passed since the great civil war came to a closs, and ever since its close political aspirants have distracted the councils of the nation. A war has been continued, though not by to lose the bends of the slave, and let him, as an inclow man, who is made in the image and likeness of the same common Creater, go free. But should he raise the sword to strike down that Government, and should be keep his fellow man in such unchristian Slavery as was that of America, both justice and charity would compel me to strip him of his power, that we might witness the reign of justice and inerty among men.

Though I will not, after this Sunday, engage your attention in the manner differing from that in which it has been my went to address you during the last 24 years, jet there will arise occasions when, in our mutual intercourse, I will deem it my duty to correct many of your faise notions on the great matiental questions, and I shall always strive to do it in a spirit of religion and charity. We should not forget that Iruth and justice must be essential in all our thoughts, words, and deeds, otherwise, in vanu do we assert charity as our characteristic, and without charity, we know, we cannot draw near to God. It is in the light of justice as well as charity I intend making some few reflections and observations of mine during my sejourn among our Southern brethren. I knew there were some who were apprehensive of danger arising to me while living beyond Mason & Dixon's line. But I can assure you I met with observations of mine during my squarm among our Southern brethren. I knew there were some who were apprehensive of danger arising to me while living beyond Mason & Dixon's line. But I can assure you I met with no meanwhelenes, even in traveling and conversing with Southern people. The late election has epened up the whole country to every citizen. All he has to do South, as North, is to obey the laws, and pay his way wherever he roes. His tongue is free how. He can fearlessly declare his convictions whatever they may be. This is the great privilege of every American citizen to-day within the bounds of these United States. The people of Charleston, South Carolina, were aware, through the press, of the course I had taken during the war. Yet this did not deter the good and learned Bishop of Charleston from calling on me at my hote, and offering me the hospitalities of his house. This, however, I declined, preferring to be free, if at I might see things as they were, and judge for myself. When in doubt, I sought the most importial winesses I could flied. In visiting the schools of Charleston, I found ladies there who had lived in affluence before the war, now engaged in the beaugiful though laborious task of indies there who had lived in afflicance before the war, how engaged in the becapital though laberious task of instructing the children of their fermer slaves; and from them I heard praises of the intelligence and the aptress to learn on the part of many of their scholars. I saw evidence of this myself in the readiness with which the bedolars answered questions. In less than 10 years you will have all over the South thousands of the rolored population well educated. They will then be able to till higher situations in the country than you can safely intrust to the charge of the present adult goveration. You will see them following the Apostle's teaching, by living in mutual charity, one with the other. This, can safely intrust to the charge of the present adult generation. You will see them following the Apostle's teaching, by living in mutual charity, one with the other. This, hewever, cannot be realized unless all sustain the gloring, by living in mutual charity, one with the other. This, hewever, cannot be realized unless all sustain the gloring, and the same of the constitution of universal suffrace and equal rights for all men before and while such that the people will fall men before and the same they are Americans, and the constitution of this line as quickly as the constitution of the same they are Americans, and the constitution of our Government, that "All men are created equal" of our Government, that "All men are created equal". I see for the South a great future. Notwithstanding the prejudice still existing among many of the inhabitants, the great manority would not have Slavery Igestablished; and there are more of the Southern people than you are aware of, my friends, who are bent on giving the freedmen the franchise, as a greater security to the well-being of society. Many of them will throw all their influence in carrying through the Legislatures the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, which forbids any State from disfranchising any one on necount of race, color, or previous servitude. Who can deay that such men as these have the highest claim to our admiration?"

After speaking of the rapid increase of schools for the education of colored children, and the favorable changes of public ordinon in the South, the reverend gentleman and: "In all I have said, I seek but to convey such impressions as my mind has received during my stay in the South. Let us, though, turn to another leature—the good resulting to the South from the large number of peopie who have visited there this year. I have heard them estimated as high as 50,000. Some have gone in search of health, and others with premiary objects. Many will settle there permanently-fray will invest their money in lots and houses, and help to build

Tracy will invest their meacy in lots and houses, and help to build up the towns, and give them a prospective never known while Slavery excluded free labor from the country. These people from the North will be a great gain wherever they locate. Their industry and capital are much desired by indeligent chizare, when it are much desired by indeligent chizare, when it are much desired by indeligent chizare, when it say that this skilled labor from the North will do much to create a videspread feeling of content with the new order, of things among all classes, and I have heard handreds express the belief that a few years will all but remove from their breasts the irritating causes of the war, and all the terrible and sad events attending on R. There is here a great deal to cheer the lover of American institutions. And will should not the Cathodic chizolac chizola

ARRIVAL OF WARREN AND COSTELLO. For weeks past the friends of Irish liberty, For weeks plast the friends of first increy, in this city, have been on the quistric for the arrival of Warren and Costello, two naturalized Americans of Irish Monox, May 10—New York City Mabbs Cemetry Association, annual meeting, No. 642 Broad-hirth, who were released from a lightly brison some two needs only. A delegation of ten or twelve gentlemen called to make arrangements for the public reception, but nothing could be positively decided at such short notice. It is most probable that the meeting will be held at Cooper Institute, on either Wednesday or Thursday evening, and that Gov. Hoffman, Mayer Hall, and the city authorities generally, will take active part therein.

Col. Warren is a man in the prime of life, but Costello is Cel. Warren is a man in the prime of life, but Costello is still young, apparently under 25. Both are mustached, well-built, and good-locking, and in the best of health and spirits. The enterprise, which resulted in their arrest, was the attempt, made more than a year since, to convey a cargo of arms from this city to Ireland, in a little vessel named the Jackmel. The undertaking failed, and Warren, Costello, and Nagle, the commander of the expedition, were all exputered. Nagle, being an American citizen by birth was set free, but the other two, being only naturalized, the English Government claimed jurisdiction over them. This they denied, refused to be "pardoned" as disloyal British subjects, and demanded to be "released" as independent American citizens; and to this demand their juilors finally acceded.

THE MAY ANNIVERSARIES.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN CHRISTIAN UNION. AMERICAN AND FOREIGN CHRISTIAN UNION.

No anniversary exercises of the American and Foreign Christian Union will be held this year, but in their stead a sermon in behalf of the Society was delivered yesterday in most of the principal cities of the Urion. In Brooklyn at the Chiton-ave, Congregational Caurch, the Key, Dr. Fisher of the Second Presbyterian Church, the Key, Dr. Fisher of the Second Presbyterian Church, the Law of the Christian world in glowing terms, and at night he repeated the same sermon in Dr. Adams's Madison-square Presbyterian Church, the congregations on both occasions being very large. His remarks were founded on passages of Scripture found in the 18th and 18th chapters of the Book of Revelation.

AMERICAN FEMALE GUARDIAN SOCIETY.

The 35th anniversary of the American Female Guardian Society was held hist night in the Fourth Presbyterian Church, in West Thirty-fourth-st., near Sixth-ave., the Rev. Dr. Z. Eddy of Brooklyn prenehing the anniversary sermon, taking for his text the words, "Help those women." The reverend gentleman's application was, that as woman is the God ordained teacher of humanity, and, as such, preciminently the world's queen, any attempt to mask her, and place her in a false position only destroys her influence. Home is a woman's kingdom, and there she should reign supreme. The most eminent woman of France when asked what France most needed, replied "Mothers," and that is what the world needs most at the present day. The annual report of the Society shows that during the year 227 adults and 452 children have been adopted into Christian homes. Of the dittle ones 150 have been armished with good situations. No less than 1,000 women have been farmished with places of safety, where they are enjoying the privilege of earning a living in comfort and respectability. The Society has nine industrial schools under its care, where an average attendance of 1,300 children are fed, ciothed, and taught, while 4,152 were enrolled on the lists during the year. To feed these fittle ones 42,000 loaves of bread have been furnished by the institution, beside many a warm dinner and comfortable garment to those outside. Gifts and legacies amounting to $30,000 have been received. The Treasurer's report knows an expenditure of $49,147,12, and a balance at the year commencing Jau. 1 of $34,014 18. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Rev. T. Thayer, D. D., of Newport, R. I., preached a very able discourse for the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions at the church corner of Fifthave, and Twelfilest, last evening. He spoke from the text, "The harvest traity is great, but the laborers few." He said that Christianity lived by conquest, without which the Church of God must die. When Christian bodies became mactive, the way to enliven them was to direct their energy in the proper channels. If only a more lofty idea of Christ was in the minds of men we would not find so few going forth in other lands bearing Christ's Gospel, for all men would deen it the greatest henor to buttle for the Lord. The only school for men to learned preach was the foreign one. When they were willing and able to speak to the heathen of God, then they could preach to their own people. BEREAN BABTIST SABBATH SCHOOL ANNIVER-SARY.

Dr. Bedford's church, corner of Downing and Bedford-sis, was crowded to excess last night on the occasion of the celebration of the Soth anniversary of the Berean Sabbath School. The edules was neatly decorated, and the scholars were ranged according to sexes in either gallery. Vocal exercises and Scriptural readings with prayer preceded the reading of the Secretary's report, which showed 380 scholars, the roll forming 26 classes the mean attendance being 185, and the largest 235. Appropriate according to the Secretary's report, which showed seems to being 185, and the largest 235. Appropriate according to the Secretary's respectively. SARY.

D., at the Collegiate Dutch Reformed Inrich, corner of Fifth-ave, and Twenty-inith-st. Mr. Layler took for his text the 24th verse of the 27th hapler of Acts. He said that the spritual welfare of very seaman who salled from the port of New-York was committed to the churches of the city. The seaman brought our ships safely to port, and we should bring he souls of these seamen safely to the heavenly harbor levyoud the key. Nelson wrote upon his banner, "Endand expects every man to do his duty." He would tamp upon his standard, "Christ expects every man to disduty."

ERMON BEFORE THE HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY. The Rev. Richard S. Storrs, D. D., of Brook-lyn, preached before this Society at the Broadway Tab-ernacie, corner of Sixth ave. and Thirty-fourth-st., last ernacie, corner of Sixth ave. and Thirty-fourth-st., last evening. The reverend gentleman spoke from the text, "If I be lifted up I draw all men unto me." Christianity is not a beautiful moral or a philosophical scheme. The true power of Christianity lies in its efforts to raise and elevate humanity. Men are afraid that science will contradict part of the Gospel. Well, what though it mart it cannot deny that Christ died, and that by dying he saved all that would believe. The Society is in a very presperous condition, the receipts of the last year being larger than ever before.

The Spring anniversary meetings of the vaious religious and reformatory societies promises to be less numerous this year than for many previous years, and those that are to be held will probably be less formal and accompanied with briefer addresses than on former occasions. The number of strangers in the city whose arrival may be presumed to be in anticipation of the occasions. The number of strangers in the city whose arrival may be presumed to be in anticipation of the forthcoming anniversaries is quite large, and the hotels of the better class are, as a rule, doing a flourishing business, while the home offices of the various societies are, as a rule, doing a flourishing business, while the home offices of the various societies are, as is usual at this time of the year, scenes of unusual activity. Judge Benedict has rendered a decision in the case of the United States agt. Robert D. Bogert, the Paymaster's Clerk, who absconded some time since with some $12,000 of Government funds. This case came besome $12,000 of Government funds. This case came before the supreme Court on motion for judgment or a verdict. The decision concludes: There must necordingly be a new trial, unless the Government consent to reduce the verdict to the amount of actual damages as proved. If this reduction be made, I see no reason at present why judgment for the amount claimed should not be rendered against the defendant. But I will hear counsel upon this point, if so desired, upon the settlement of the order to be entered on this decision.

suspicion of having thrown it there. The coroner's inquest over the body developed nothing which would justify the detention of the parties arrested, and they were accordingly discharged. The woman, claiming to be the mother, made contradictory statements concerning the affair, and the physicians called to aid in the inquest gave it as their opinion that she had not given birth to a child. The jury therefore gave a verdict that the child came to its death by some means unknown to the jurors.

HOBOKEN.-The alleged smuggling of cigars by parties connected with the Bremen steamers having attracted the attention of [Commissioner Hoffman he has made arrangements for the arrest of three of the suspected persons, living at Union Hill, and they will be arrested to-day.

JERSEY CITY.-Samuel Miller was arrested JERSEY CITY.—Samuel Miller was arrested at Taylor's Hotel, on Saturday night, charged with stealing a pocket-book containing 475 from the counter in the office. The money belonged to A. D. Moore of Washington, who was paying his hill, and who laid his pocket-book down for a moment, Miller being the only person present beside himself and the clerk. When he turned to pick up the pocket-book, it was gone. The money was not recovered, Miller having absented himself for a moment or two before he was arrested. He will be brought before the Recorder this morning.
